M'SWINEY DEAD, CORK UNDER GUARD

MACHINE GUNS AT CITY PRISON

Precautions Taken as News of MacSwiney's Death Comes

SESSION OF COUNCIL CALLED

Irish Parliament Makes Appeal
Against Violence

CORK, Ireland. — (By Associated Press.) — Fervent interest in possible developments caused by the death of Lord Mayor MacSwiney of this city, which occurred in Brixton Prison, London, Monday morning, is mingled with the grief in which his death has plunged the city.

Altogether the people appeared stirred to the highest degree of bitterness, it is regarded as extremely improbable that there will be any outbreaks or disorderly demonstrations in this city.

SAFEGUARDS TAKEN

It is expected, however, there will be a considerable extension and intensification of guerrilla warfare against the police and military forces which, anticipating reprisals, are doubling their vigilance, especially in remote districts.

Cork jail, where a number of hunger strikers are in a grave condition, is guarded inside and out by soldiers equipped with machine guns.

There is an exceptionally large garrison here. It is equipped for any eventualities, has a number of tanks and armored cars and is ready for instant service.

AGAINST VIOLENCE

Military forces are so strong that it is considered improbable that any attempt at force will be made here.

It is understood the Irish parliament had been making appeal to all elements of the population to refrain from violence. This is also believed to be the policy of various influential leaders of the Sinn Féin movement.

Whether such counsels will be followed by the younger element or by members of the Irish Republican Brotherhood, one of the most militant of Irish secret societies, remains to be seen.

COUNCIL MEETING CALLED

The news of Lord Mayor MacSwiney's death, received in private telegrams to his friends, traveled with lightning speed through the city. A meeting of the city council to discuss the situation arising from the lord mayor's death was called for this afternoon.

The deputy lord mayor announced that he and several other municipal officials would proceed to Brixton prison. He stated that plans for holding the funeral in Cork would be proceeded with.

RAIDS IN DUBLIN

DUBLIN. — Exciting scenes occurred here Monday in consequence of numerous military raids throughout the city. Armed soldiers occupied the mansion house and a search followed.

Hotels and private houses were raided and shots were fired. One soldier is reported to have been wounded.

TAKEN FROM BRIDE

Ohio Cashier Arrested on Embellishment Charge

CLEVELAND. — (By United Press.) — Orvel A. Hopkins, 25, was out on $5,000 bond Monday on the charge of embezzling $9,550 from a branch of the Guaranty Savings and Trust Company, where he had been employed as assistant cashier.

Hopkins was arrested Sunday as he and his bride of three weeks returned from their honeymoon in the east. Private detectives took him from his bride. He explained to them that they were employed in intent on hazing him. She did not realize the significance of his going until apprised that he had confessed to embezzling the money.

While on their honeymoon, Hopkins spent money lavishly, detectives said. The pair lived at the best hotels and Hopkins purchased many costly presents for his bride, officers who shadowed the bride and groom, said.

WOMEN TO PARTICIPATE IN MOCK ELECTION HERE

A mock election, in which women will mark their ballots the same as at the general election on next Tuesday, will be a feature of the citizenship school, to be held Tuesday evening, October 26.

Women are asked to bring pencil and pad to the meeting. After the election, Miss Drusilla Reilly, for many years teacher of the civil government classes in Central High school, will speak on "The Commission Form of Government."

MEETING POSTPONED

Chairman J. B. Dugan of the Allen-co fair-price commission announced Monday the postponement of the final meeting of the commission to be held Monday night, due to its conflicting with the Rotary club luncheon. Dugan said the meeting will be held Tuesday or Wednesday night. He declared no word had been received from District Attorney Wertz to continue the commission after November 1.

WILLIS TO SPEAK HERE

Republican headquarters has announced that F. B. Willis, G. O. P. candidate for United States Senator, will speak at Memorial Hall, Thursday evening. Miss Rose Moriarity, national organizer, in charge of the women's bureau at Columbus, will also speak.

ARTICLE 10 IS NOT VITAL TO PACT, SAYS LEAGUE HEAD

BRUSSELS. — (By Associated Press.) — Leon Bourgeois, president of the council of the league of nations, talking to American newspaper correspondents Sunday night, said that Article X of the covenant of the league of nations is not considered by European statesmen as a vital and essential element of the covenant.

M. Bourgeois said he had been surprised that Article X had caused so much emotion in the United States. He stated that Article X could be eliminated without in any way modifying the effectiveness of the league of nations.

"Article X," said M. Bourgeois, "is scarcely more than a moral background to the covenant. It is not considered so important by Europeans as by Americans."

"There is really no sanction, or penalty in this article. All penalties provided for in the covenant in order to make the league's action effective are in other articles."

M. Bourgeois' statement was made in the course of an interview arranged for American correspondents by M. Comert, principal press official of the league of nations. After M. Bourgeois had withdrawn, the question was raised among the American correspondents as to the effect of M. Bourgeois' utterance on the presidential election in the United States. It was thereupon mutually agreed to withhold the statement until M. Bourgeois could pass upon it as being issued with the fullest authority and approval.

M. Bourgeois was seen Monday morning by M. Comert, who then told the correspondents he had explained to M. Bourgeois the importance of the remarks and requested M.

Bourgeois to say whether he intended them to be published in the United States.

M. Bourgeois replied, said M. Comert, that he understood the importance of what he was saying, and was quite willing the interview should be printed.

M. Bourgeois continuing the conversation of Sunday night and replying to questions regarding the prospect of the revision of the covenant by the general assembly of the league of nations, which meets at Geneva November 15, next said:

"The council of the league, being guardians of the covenant, are of course unable to go before the assembly with any project that alters the covenant. But individual states which are members of the league, may, of course, propose such amendments as they see fit."

BRITAIN'S STRIKE MAY END TODAY

Conference Expected to Settle the Miners' Walkout

BOTH SIDES OPTIMISTIC

Neither Has Yielded Main
Contentions, Leaders Say

LONDON. — (By Associated Press.) — Conversations renewed at No. 10 Downing at Monday between Premier Lloyd-George and executives of the miners' federation were confidently expected to lead to a settlement of the miners' strike which last week threatened to involve Great Britain in an industrial crisis.

Prominent executives of the federation and government officials are quoted by newspapers here as being optimistic of the situation.

It is believed an arrangement will be reached by which each side can at least claim it has not "yielded its main contention." It is asserted Premier Lloyd-George will submit proposals which he hopes will make increased output of coal certain that it will be possible to grant immediately the increase of wages demanded by the coal diggers.

RELIEF IS FELT

Miners' leaders are quoted as saying they are confident the government will before long find a way to concede the miners' claims.

Newspapers of this city continue hopeful for the most part, and express relief at national union of railway men decided to defer calling a strike. Such action, it is understood, will not be taken before Wednesday.

The labor conference which was called by the parliamentary committee of the trades union congress, will meet on Wednesday, and there are indications that a railway strike, even if called, may be rather half-hearted. Many messages from local branches are said to have been received at the headquarters of the union, expressing hostility to the idea of a strike.

MINERS WARNED

It is said that if a strike ballot of the workers has been taken, the attitude of J. H. Thomas, secretary of the national union of railway men, will certainly influence a large number of members. In a speech delivered Sunday, Mr. Thomas, while expressing sympathy for the miners, warned his audience of the dangers of a strike, which he said he realized "might lead to the downfall of all of us."

He declared he was firm in his determination not to lead a strike.

TURKS DEFEATED

Armenians Win Victory at Foot of Mount Ararat

CONSTANTINOPLE. — (By Associated Press.) — The Armenians have defeated the Turkish Nationalists on the plains at the foot of Mt. Ararat, near Echmiadzin, the seat of the chief patriarch, according to advices received here today.

Georgia has sent an ultimatum to the Turks and Tartars, threatening war unless they withdraw their troops from Georgia's frontiers and also cease harassing Batumi, on the east shore of the Black sea.

JURY HEARS SUIT OVER DAMAGE IN POOL ROOM

A jury in common pleas court Monday was called to decide what damage was incurred to pool room tables by water which soaked into the ceiling.

The trial was that of Guy Curtis against G. W. Sanders, proprietor of the Sanders hotel, 68 Market-st. Curtis sued for $168, charging water from the hotel overflowed and soaked through the floor, damaging the plastering and wall paper and making the cloth on the tables useless.

He secured judgment for $97. Sanders appealed the case.

STREET WORK DELAYED

The change of weather Monday will hold up street repairs in Lima, service Director Elmer McClure declared. He said the blacksmiths of the service department worked all day Sunday putting the asphalt repair plant in condition to speed up the work, only to have rain interfere. The work cannot be done except in dry weather, he said.

CLEVELAND MAN BEATEN TO DEATH AS HE REFUSES DEMAND FOR 25 CENTS

CLEVELAND. — Lawrence Oblack, 27, died early Monday, probably from a fractured skull, sustained in a beating he received late Sunday night at the hands of two street thugs when he resisted an attempt to search him, following a request for 25 cents to pay their way to a dance.

AMERICAN SLAIN IN MEXICO

Murdered Without Provocation,
Says Report to Washington

WASHINGTON. — (By United Press.) — The murder of M. Seyrev, an American citizen at Cananea, was reported to the state department Monday. Secretary of State Coby telegraphed to the American consul at Nogales, in the Mexican state of Sonora, to call on the Mexican authorities to "take all possible measures to apprehend the murderer."

The report of the murder came to the state department from the American consul at Nogales who stated the murder was supposed to have been committed by Ramon Navarro, without provocation.

Navarro is a discharged miner, whom the Cananea Copper Company had refused to employ and is still at large.

Mexican troops are searching for Navarro, the department was advised. Seyrev, who was killed Wednesday, was a resident of El Paso, Ariz. A reward has been offered by the copper company.

DIAMONDS TO BE REPLEVINED

$25,000 Worth of Gems Identified as Stolen Property

CLEVELAND. — (By Associated Press.) — An action to replevin $25,000 worth of unset diamonds and other jewelry found in the possession of Mrs. Mildred Johnson, mother of Albert Johnson, alias Jove, star member of the gang of bandits who held up a bank at Bedford, Ohio, last Thursday, was expected to be started here last Monday.

Members of the firm of Phillips, Present and Son Company of Knochel, N. Y., owners of $5,000 worth of gems stolen from their salesmen, Max Lowenthal, in Buffalo several weeks ago, were here to recover the jewelry found on Mrs. Johnson and which has been identified as part of the stolen loot.

Mrs. Johnson and Hazel Gray, alias Norm. Scott, Jove's sweetheart, were arraigned Monday on charges of receiving stolen property. The cases were continued until Thursday. Bail was fixed at $20,000 each.

WHAT'S THAT? DELPHOS CUTS PRICE OF LIQUOR?

MANY FINED IN COURT

That the high cost of drinking is being swayed harder in Delphos, than in Lima was brought out by evidence in criminal court Monday morning. Before a man giving his name as A. C. Herman Lima House, who admitted paying $13 a quart for liquor had paid his fine, Charles Brown, 39, Toledo, told the court he purchased a quart in Delphos for $6. The men were fined $25 each by Judge Emmett J. Jackson, after they pleaded guilty to charges of drunkenness.

Floyd Duff, 25, laborer, Lima $15; Duff was fined $25 and given a 30 day sentence in the Toledo workhouse after pleading guilty to drunkenness.

A man registered at the police station as Swifty Leonard, 55, boilermaker, Lima, charged with drunkenness, forfeited a bond of $10.

Two men registered as J. Howard, 22, 535 S. Main-st and John Boop, 29, drayman, 1177 Tanner-ave, pleaded not guilty to charges of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. Their hearing was set for late Monday.

Two cases of traffic violation were disposed of as follows: Ralph Schoonover, 18, oil worker pleaded guilty to driving motorcycle with open muffler and was fined $5; Albert Lewis, 20, boilermaker, 575 W. Vine-st was fined $5 after pleading guilty to a similar charge.

'TRUMP CARDS UP COX'S SLEEVE'

Ready to be Played This Week,
Managers Promise

TOURS WEST VIRGINIA TODAY

Closes Campaign Night Before
Election at Toledo

ENROUTE WITH GOVERNOR
COX. — (By Associated Press.) — West Virginia Monday was visited by Governor Cox in opening the last full week of his presidential campaign. Nine addresses in this so-called "doubtful" state were on the Democratic candidate's program Monday beginning with an early morning speech at Hinton and including an afternoon address at Charleston and a night meeting at Huntington.

That several trump cards were ready for the campaign's wind-up was promised by the Democratic management. The league of nations issue, however, it was said would continue the chief appeal to voters by Governor Cox and other Democratic speakers.

The governor's West Virginia effort Monday was the second in the state and followed his speech in Madison Square Garden last Saturday night at New York where he stressed business arguments for the league and for the first time said that he expected to "compromise" on reservations.

The candidate was to make rear platform addresses Monday at Beckley, Mount Hope, Fayette, Montgomery, Cabin Creek and St. Albans.

Tuesday the governor will speak at Kanova, W. Va., Ashland, Ky., and Portsmouth, Ohio, with a night meeting at Cincinnati.

SPEAKS AT TOLEDO LAST ENROUTE WITH GOVERNOR COX, Hinton, W. Va. — (By United Press.) — Governor James M. Cox Monday was moving westward to wage his final fight for the presidency in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and West Virginia.

With only seven working days remaining, the Democratic strategy apparently was to center the main stump efforts of the candidate in Ohio and Indiana.

Tuesday afternoon, after a short stop at Ashland, Ky., he will go back to Ohio and during the week, will speak in Cincinnati, Dayton, Akron and Toledo. Thursday night he is scheduled to speak in Indianapolis and Saturday in Chicago.

Although the governor's campaign has been one of the most strenuous in the history of American elections, there is no let-up until election day. He will speak the night before election in Toledo, that city being selected for the final speech because he was elected governor of Ohio every time he wound up his campaign there and was defeated the only time he did not follow that rule.

Cox was optimistic over the results of his last eastern campaign. The belief in the Democratic camp is that more pro-league Republicans and independents will swing to Cox as the result of his definite announcement in New York that he favors a reservation to article ten, which provides that under no circumstances can the armed forces of the United States be used under the league unless such action is specifically authorized or approved by congress.

His statement apparently was a counter-move against what he believed to be an attempt by Elihu Root and other Republicans who have advocated the league to misrepresent his attitude toward reservations by saying he wants the covenant "just as Wilson negotiated it."

MRS. CRAYTON TO SPEAK

Mrs. W. B. Crayton, leader in woman political activities in Allen-co, will go to Cridersville Monday evening, where she will address a gathering on "Citizenship." Mrs. Crayton will speak Saturday evening in Elida.

WAGES INCREASED

CALGARY, Alberta. — An increase of $1.15 a day in the wages of Alberta coal miners, granted by operators in conference with representatives of the United Mine Workers of America, was announced Monday.

BUNGALOW ON WHEELS LATEST PLAN TO BEAT HIGH COST OF BUILDING

NEW YORK. — A bungalow on wheels under construction by a Staten Island resident and prospective inhabitant of Florida, is claimed to be the latest device for beating the high cost of building and railroad transportation.

William Ward, designer of the rolling house, consisting of a living room, bath and kitchen, reckoned it would be cheaper to build, equip and tow his household, intact, by automobile to "where we shall not need coal" than to ship his effects by train.

U. S. PROTEST TO BE ASKED

Board to Request Condemnation of Conditions in Ireland

NEW YORK. — (By United Press.) — When informed by the United States board of inquiry that the Irish Self-Determination League, headed by the late Lord Mayor MacSwiney, Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the American Commission for Irish Independence, declared that the state department would be asked to grant a hearing immediately on an appeal for an official protest "in the name of humanity" against conditions in Ireland.

"In permitting MacSwiney to die the British government unwittingly has suffered a terrific blow at its own existence," Walsh said. "No event in a hundred years, has served to draw world attention to the infamy and barbarity of the empire as has this tragic martyrdom of a young freedom-loving Irishman. A thousand murders, a dozen massacres, the sacking of scores of towns all might go unheeded in this time of world anguish. But the sacrifice of this hero in behalf of his native land arrests the attention of all."

DONAHEY BACKED

Canton Ministers Favor Democratic Candidate for Governor

CANTON, Ohio. — (By United Press.) — The Canton Ministerial Association Monday unanimously endorsed the candidacy of Vic Donahey for governor.

The action was taken after a thorough discussion of the records of the two candidates, in which practically all of the ministers participated. It was the consensus of opinion that the past record of Frank L. Davis, Republican candidate, was such that he was not entitled to the support of persons who believe in clean government and law enforcement.

Donahey's record likewise had been gone into and several of the members said that in their opinion his public and private life has been such as to entitle him to support.

MURDERED WOMAN IS IDENTIFIED BY HUSBAND

NEW YORK. — The body of the unidentified woman, which was found on Staten Island Friday night after she had been strangled with a rope, was identified Saturday night as Mrs. Jennie Cassel, 21, of Jersey City, the wife of a truck driver.

The identification was made by her husband, Kustantly Cassel. He said his wife left home a week ago. At that time she wore a diamond ring, a wedding ring and a bracelet, none of which was found on her body. He believes she was murdered, after she had been robbed. She was the mother of two children, one seven years old and one six.

COPIES LEAGUE COVENANT JAMES F. BURMAN, in charge of Democratic headquarters, on Monday announces that a large supply of copies of the League of Nations with the unqualified endorsement of the American Bar Association, has been received. Those who wish to study the document for themselves can secure copies at Democratic headquarters.

MAY SELL BONDS

City Auditor David L. Rupert declared Monday it is probable $12,000 of the city's deficiency bonds will be taken up by the sinking fund at the regular monthly meeting of the trustees Monday. Provision for payment of $4,500 worth of bonds and interest coming due on November 1 will be made at the meeting Monday, the auditor said.

BANKER FORCED TO AID BANDITS

DRIVEN TO OPEN THE SAFE

Wife Revived by Gangsters When She Faints

TOLEDO. — (By Associated Press.) — Five bandits at 2 a. m. Monday went to the home of Ralph Turney, cashier of the bank at Alvordton, Ohio, routed him from bed and forced him to accompany them to the bank and open the safe. They escaped with $3,500 in cash and bonds worth $500.

Turney's wife was awakened when the men, using a jimmy, forced their way into the house.

She was forced to return to her room where she fainted when one of the bandits threatened to kill her husband unless he went with them. He tried to evade them by saying there was a time lock on the safe but was told that the intruders knew the safe had no time lock.

After Mrs. Turney fainted, one of the men went downstairs and brought up a bucket of water which was thrown into her face to revive her. Turney was not harmed.

FATHER FASTS TO CONVERT GIRL

Preacher Tries Hunger Strike to "Save" Daughter

COLUMBIA, Ky. — (By United Press.) — Rev. Joel Woodbridge, minister of Denmark, Russell-co, who fasted 22 days in an effort to make his daughter profess religion at a revival he was conducting at Hayes chapel, has broken his fast.

In the closing days of his fast, the minister was so weak he remained constantly on a cot in the church and preached from it.

The daughter, Miss Della Woodbridge, was teaching school seven miles away. Her father wanted her to profess religion at the meeting he was conducting and when she did not do so, he announced he would fast until she did. Miss Woodbridge said she would not profess anything she did not feel.

The attention called to the case because so embarrassing that Miss Woodbridge left school for several days. On the 22nd day the father said he had received a message from Christ and the fast was broken. He does not seem to have suffered any permanent ill effects and is regaining strength.

COOL SNAP HERE

Delayed Summer Weather Believed to be at End

Br-r-r-r. We're doomed for a cold snap now, the weatherman says, and crockets with other winter wearing apparel are going to come into their own within the next few days.

Sunday night the mercury dropped several degrees and it's still slipping down.

Tonight it's going to be even cooler and before retiring you want to be sure that you throw an extra blanket over the foot of the bed, "cause it'll come in handy."

Streets were muddy in Lima Monday morning and persons hurried to work as rain spattered lively down on the upturned pavement.

Girls ventured out to work Monday thinking it little cooler, but shortly after noon they were seen to return to work wearing warmer garments.

Housewives complained Monday of the low gas supply as homes commenced to chill.

FINISH FOR COAL THEFT

Theft of coal from the Baltimore and Ohio railroad landed two men in the toils of the law Monday. They gave their names as Joseph Duback, 356 Reese-ave and Frank Noseleska, 1156 Reese-ave. Each was fined $35 and costs.

DIES AFTER FAST OF 73 DAYS

Mayor's Fast Eclipses Any in Annals of Medical World

UNCONSCIOUS SEVERAL DAYS

Climax to One of Britain's Most Heated Controversies

LONDON. — (By Associated Press.) — Terence MacSwiney, lord mayor of Cork, died at Brixton prison this city at 5.40 o'clock Monday morning. His death followed a hunger strike of more than 73 days, eclipsing any in the annals of the medical world.

MacSwiney, who had been unconscious for several days, did not recover his faculties before he died. Father Dominic, his private chaplain, and his brother, John MacSwiney, were with him when he died. Father Dominic was told by prison officials at 4.35 o'clock that they should go the mayor's last wish as they thought death was approaching. The brother asked for the privilege of communication with other relatives who were not present, but officials, it is said, refused him the use of a telephone.

RELATIVES NOTIFIED
After the prisoner's death, his brother and the chaplain were not permitted to leave Brixton prison until 6.15 o'clock. John MacSwiney immediately conveyed word to the widow of the lord mayor, who was staying at a west end hotel with Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien, the former being the London executive of the Irish Self-Determination League.

Mrs. MacSwiney, accompanied by her parents, and the Misses Annie and Mary MacSwiney, sisters of the lord mayor, arrived at Brixton prison at 8.30 o'clock.

It is understood arrangements are being made to take the body to Ireland for burial.

INQUEST TO BE HELD

News of MacSwiney's death did not become known in the city until around 8 o'clock. The usual large contingents of police were on duty inside the prison grounds to prevent any demonstration but outside along the road leading to the main highway there were no unusual signs of activity. No civilians were seen walking there, as they usually did in the early days of the lord mayor's hunger strike.

It is probable the inquest will be held at the prison Monday, after which the body will be turned over to relatives.

MacSwiney was unconscious for 26 hours before his death occurred, it stated. Father Dominic, therefore, was unable to give him the last sacrament but he administered Extreme Unction.

HOME OFFICE STATEMENT

The cause of MacSwiney's death was heart failure, according to a statement issued at the home office. This statement is considered an indirect answer to the criticism of Dr. Joshua Oldfield, the physician and publicist, who had declared it was wrong for the lord mayor's doctors to administer meat juice and brandy. He said brandy was a poison and that a man at the point of death was very susceptible to poison. Dr. Oldfield added that when a man fasted a long time the first food he could endure was fruit juice. When one of the officials was asked regarding Mrs. MacSwiney's absence from the bedside when death occurred, he replied by saying the restrictions which were recently imposed upon visits of relatives were urged by the attending physicians as vital to the prisoner's own interest.

POLITICAL CAREER

Terence MacSwiney was 40 years old and was one of the most prominent Sinn Féin leaders. He started life as a draper's assistant but became a poet, author and playwright before taking up politics seriously. Later he became violently anti-English.

While in Wakefield jail, Yorkshire in 1916, he met Marie Murphy, daughter of a wealthy Cork distiller. They married in jail and shortly after they were married despite much opposition.

MacSwiney was elected as Sinn Féin member from Cork to the British parliament in 1918, but never took his seat. He was present at the first session of the Irish parliament in 1919 when the establishment of the republic was confirmed and was elected lord mayor of Cork in 1920.

For various political offenses, he had been in jail with brief intervals of liberty in January 1916 and in October 1917. He secured his release from jail by hunger striking.

The story of the self-starvation of Terence MacSwiney, the Lord Mayor of Cork, probably will become one of the most moving chapters of the centuries-long history of the Irish struggle. No other controversy has stirred Great Britain so deeply as this since the one that centered upon Cecil Rhodes, when the Jameson raid was balked by Paul Kruger and the raiders imprisoned.

The campaign in England for MacSwiney's release from prison has been apart from all political and purely considerations and even the King was drawn into it. The movement in MacSwiney's behalf was mainly humanitarian and enlisted tender-hearted people of all factions but was urged by others with arguments of party strategy.

HUMAN ASPECT
The human aspect of the Lord Mayor's hunger strike was the one that chiefly interested British people and compelled the sympathy of even his hardest political enemies. Mrs. MacSwiney and his brothers and sisters were treated everywhere with respect and their side had nothing but good to say of the jailers and police with whom they had to deal.

Any way out of MacSwiney's imprisonment except his death would have been welcomed by the whole public but his family were as firm as MacSwiney in refusing to listen to any and except release or death. There can be no doubt the Irish republicans believed MacSwiney had given their cause the most valuable service in his power and that, like John Brown "he will trouble you more than ever when you have nailed his coffin down."

FIRST IN ENGLAND
The death of Lord Mayor MacSwiney was the first of an Irish hunger strike to occur in England since a week ago, on the occasion of the death of Michael Fitzgerald, one of the 11 hunger strikers in the Cork Jail, the Lord Mayor was reported to have said: "We do not know who is to be the second to step in the path of immortality but by offering unreserved sacrifice we are safeguarding the destinies of Ireland."

It became evident several days ago that MacSwiney was nearing the end. Up to that time he had steadfastly refused nourishment, although tempting dishes were brought to his bedside daily by the authorities. Both the authorities and the Lord Mayor's relatives emphatically stated they had not administered food to the prisoner, notwithstanding rumors to the contrary.

At last, after the mayor, who had reached the stage of extreme emaciation, had become periodically delirious, the officials began to give him liquid nourishment. This came too late, however, as the mayor has been all but dead for many days.

VISITS RESTRICTED
As the end approached the authorities restricted visits of his relatives, declaring this was in the interest of the prisoner, who was said to be too weak for excitement. Sunday evening, his brother Sean (John) and Father Dominic stayed in the prison in view of eventualities. Shortly before 6 o'clock Monday morning they were summoned to see the Lord Mayor, who had taken a bad turn. They found him lying motionless, with his eyes open but unconscious.

Father Dominic whispered a few prayers, but the dying man did not recognize him. The priest then recited the prayers for the dying, while Sean, the nurses and the four doctors, including the chief adviser of the home office, stood by.

Father Dominic and Sean then retired to allow the doctors to do what they could for the Lord Mayor. One of them injected strychnine. Father Dominic and Sean in the meantime were repeating rosaries in Gaelic in another part of the prison.

The condition of the Lord Mayor was beyond human aid, and Father Dominic again said prayers for the dying. Just as he had finished the Lord Mayor breathed his last.

The news of his death spread rapidly through the United Kingdom and preparations for a great funeral were immediately begun by the Star of Fein. The plans, contingent upon government approval, include the body lying in state in St. George's cathedral in London and the mansion house in Dublin and a series of services en route from Dublin to Cork.

Similar plans were made some time ago when it appeared that the Lord Mayor was about to die, and it is known that at that time the government took steps to repress what it might consider any undue demonstration. Just what the attitude of the government will be in the present case is not known, but it appeared certain that no large demonstration of any kind would be sanctioned either in England or in Ireland, and that the funeral probably would be controlled as was that of Michael Fitzgerald in Cork recently.

Within the past week, when it began to appear that the Lord Mayor was approaching the end, he was given liquid nourishment by the prison doctors during periods of unconsciousness.

This fact appeared in statements by both the Irish Self-Determination League, which had been issuing regular bulletins on MacSwiney's condition, and by the home office. The League's statement showed the Lord Mayor as becoming extremely indignant upon regaining consciousness and realizing that he had been fed.

"Troy tricked me, and I didn't know it," he exclaimed.

With regard to the theological aspects of the Lord Mayor's hunger strike and that of the Irish prisoners in the Cork Jail who began a similar abstention from food shortly before MacSwiney's fast started, it was stated in a Rome dispatch on October 17, that Pope Benedict had referred the problem of the status of these hunger striking prisoners to the congregation of the Holy Office.

The first death among the hunger strikers occurred on Sunday October 17, when Michael Fitzgerald, one of the 11 striking prisoners in the Cork Jail succumbed to the results of his self-imposed fast. He had fasted 33 days. Several other of the Cork prisoners are declared now to be in a critical state.

GOV. COX KNOWS HOW TO KEEP WELL

News Health Expert Tells How He Does It

By William Brady, M. D.

Following is the conclusion of the analysis of the physical condition of Governor James M. Cox, Democratic candidate for the presidency, by Dr. Brady. This is one of the biggest features ever written for any newspaper. The story of the examination of Senator Harding will follow.

STILL JUST A BIG BOY

Ohio folks still universally call the governor "Jimmy." Jimmy is a boy's nickname. And it fits well, too, for physically, or physiologically, rather, Governor Cox still is just a big boy. Not only because of his record accomplishment on the health test I have already described, but because of several other, remarkable facts concerning his health status do I look upon him as boyish. The morning I examined him his systolic blood pressure was 115 millimeters mercury and the diastolic pressure was 84 millimeters—precisely the low readings one would expect in a big healthy boy. Most men of the governor's age and occupational status would give a reading of anywhere from 125 to 140 millimeters, and still be acceptable as good risks for a life insurance policy.

When I was applying the cuff on his arm in order to measure the blood pressure the governor observed that he usually felt a "trifle below par" early in the morning. No doubt had I measured the blood pressure toward the end of the day it would have been ten or fifteen millimeters higher; it is normally higher late in the afternoon, but isn't it rather characteristic of a boy to feel a "trifle below par" early in the morning? Sure, Mike! We've all been that way.

The human machine is cold in the early morning. It is a little lethargic, a little sluggish about starting, the body temperature is at its lowest, ebb around 5 a. m., metabolism is slowest then. We warm up as the day advances and reach top speed about 5 or 6 o'clock in the afternoon. But what wouldn't thousands of other men of the governor's age give to have a big boy's blood pressure at any old hour in the morning? Notwithstanding the governor's "below par" condition in the early morning, it is his habit when at home in Dayton to take a horseback ride at six a. m. Unlike motorists, equitation involves no mean degree of muscular exercise, so that as far as health values may be concerned, four miles of oxygen taken by a man on four hoofs would be about the equivalent of two miles of oxygen absorbed by the man on his own two hoofs.

James M. Cox knows the secret of keeping well.

GOOD MACHINE DESERVES GOOD CARE

It is a trait of boyhood to sleep well and often. Here we have an executive who can, in the midst of the hardest day at the office, retire to his private room and sleep fifteen minutes, then get up, bathe his face with cold water, and go on to more plunge into his work, refreshed and rejuvenated by the short sleep. The boy again.

Where is there another man of the Governor's class blessed with the capacity to take such a dose of the great restorers, sleep and exercise, in a day? What a tremendous asset this little knack must be for a man in a country-wide speaking tour! Once a year regularly Governor Cox has a complete dental examination, including X-ray pictures of all the teeth. It is a common habit of infection or a "silent" (symptomatic) abscess about the root of a tooth. This infection was promptly cleaned up by the dental surgeon. This habit of using the "unce of prevention in the way of oral hygiene is characteristic of the man's high regard for health as an asset. He made one remark which struck me as a bit of wisdom which few men possess. "I have a pretty good machine and I have always believed in taking good care of it." A lot of men, in fact nearly every man, will say something like that—but Governor Cox does it. One wonders whether a similar habit of annual dental examination would have made a difference in the condition which led up to the late Col. Roosevelt's untimely end. I haven't the slightest idea whether Col. Roosevelt's accident was directly or remotely associated with a dental infection, but I know only too well how disastrous the results of "silent" or painless root infections may be.

HE LIVES ON

MORNING BATHS
It has been the Governor's custom for years to indulge in cold morning baths, followed by friction rubs. He describes this as the most actual pleasure. I regret this, of course, but must tell the whole truth. It seems so un-boyish. A dip in the swimming hole is plenty cold enough, and a fellow rarely takes such a dip early in the morning, when the body vitality—the circulation, the temperature, the metabolism, or combustion process—is at low ebb. To my mind it is downright courageous. I can't say it has any effect on the Governor's health, however. So far as I can determine there is nothing wrong with his health. Therefore, the cold bath habit appears to have done him no harm, at least possibly it has a good effect on morale, being in the nature of discipline or self-punishment. It is a wonderfully helpful thing, in a moral sense, for a man with the tobacco habit, to prescribe for himself one smokeless day in each week and take his machine faithfully. Likewise, a cold morning bath may be the sort of nerve tonic a man of Governor Cox's class needs, if he needs a tonic. I referred a while ago to the phenomenal capacity of the Governor's after-breakfast pipe. Somehow, the combination of the cold morning bath and the after-breakfast smoke remind me of a certain motorist who speeds up as he approaches a stop and then jams on the brakes to hold the machine back.

VAMPIRED BY LADY NICOTINE
I did not ask the Governor how much he smokes. Had I noted any definite deficiency, had the examination elicited any apparent ill effect of tobacco, I would have gone into that matter in detail. But I am bound to admit that apparently Lady Nicotine has not yet got in her work on the Governor, assuming she has him vampired at all. It may be that the after-breakfast smoke is the only one until after dinner. Let us hope so. It would be unfortunate to find that a man could smoke ex-

CARRIES NO HANDICAP

For his height, five feet and nine inches, the Governor's weight is exactly the average normal weight of men his age, as favored by an efficient, 164 pounds. He carries no handicap in the way of super-weight, a fact which helps to explain the remarkable efficiency of his circulation. Persons who are overweight seldom realize that a burden of the excess weight is a strain on the heart and arteries and equal effort as to his own case of the same weight would be carried constantly by a normal individual.

I doubt whether there are many men of sedentary habit who could equal the Governor's record in that regard. I have described a few of his attributes, regardless of age. At thirty, a man is supposed to be at his best physically. Age a factor to be measured physiologically, if at all. An individual's chronology, age by no means, defines his relation to the conditions of his environment. We feel of it's attributes instead of counting his years nowadays. By such a test Governor Cox might still be thirty.

The youth, energy and extraordinary health of the man must be credited as much to good heredity and good fortune. A whole lot of us might say, with the Governor, "I have a pretty good machine," but might few of us could honestly say, as can the Governor, "I have always believed in taking good care of it."

WHEAT AND WHEAT SHOWS

The day before I examined him, the Governor had put in three hours of uninterrupted talking into the receiver of a phonograph. To do this, he was compelled to stand with his head thrown back somewhat, the phonograph being held above his head. Pale, Sallow Women
Told How To Acquire The Glow Of Health
Women who are pale, sallow, overworked, no energy and hardly able to drag about, if you could only realize what Vinol, the cod liver and iron strength creator, and body builder will do for you, you are sure you would not rest until you had tried it.

Miss Phyllis Jones says: "I was run-down, pale, nervous, thin and had fainting spells. My doctor prescribed Vinol. I had gained rapidly since taking it and look and feel better in every way."

Vinol enriches the blood with multitudes of healthy red blood corpuscles and what Vinol did for Miss Jones, it will do for every pale, sallow, weak, overworked woman in this vicinity.

FINAL MEETINGS OF CAMPAIGN

List of Democratic Rallies to be Held This Week

This is the last week of the campaign. In Allen Co., the Democratic organization has been most active in the matter of disseminating information necessary for the guidance of the voters. Extraordinary efforts have been made to get into the hands of the people copies of the League of Nations, for which the Democratic platform stands, with reasonable reservations and for which Governor Cox has declared in all his campaign utterances.

An active speaking campaign has been conducted. Orators of national renown have visited Lima. The Democratic candidate for President, Vice President, Governor and United States Senators have been here. All effort has been given to bring to the electorate a full understanding of the League of Nations as it really is and not as Republican propaganda has tried to make it appear.

Democratic meetings for the final week in this county have been outlined as follows, dates, time and speakers being indicated:

Monday, 7:30 p. m., at Bluffton Town Hall, Hon. B. F. Welty and Harry O'Connor.

Tuesday, 7:30 p. m., at St. John's auditorium, Delphos, Hon. M. A. Daugherty, Hon. B. F. Welty and Harry O'Connor.

Tuesday, 7:30 p. m., at Mowery school house, Shawnee-tp, Judge William Klingner.

Wednesday, 7:30 p. m., at Bath-tp house, Judge William Klingner, Harry O'Connor, Mrs. H. H. Starrett.

Wednesday, 7:30 p. m., at Harrod, Congressman B. F. Welty.

Friday, 7:30 p. m., Judge William Klingner and Harry O'Connor.

Friday, 7:30 p. m., at Beaverdam, Congressman B. F. Welty.

Friday, 7:30 p. m., at Court house, Lima, Cox club meeting.

Saturday, 7:30 p. m., at armory, Spencerville, final Democratic rally of campaign for that part of the county.

Saturday, 7:30 p. m., at Town Hall, Bluffton, final rally.

Where the names of speakers are not mentioned in connection with dates above, they have not been chosen.

Notice and Warning

Chairman Clark Invites the Democrats Into the Open With Their Malicious Propaganda

BY GEORGE H. CLARK

Chairman Republican State Executive Committee

We are face to face with the last days of this campaign.

This is a Republican year. Every indication over the nation is that Senator Harding will win by one of the largest majorities ever given a candidate for president.

In the State of Ohio there is a similar indication that the national and state tickets will be elected by an overwhelming majority.

Knowledge of these facts has grown to unmistakable proportions. In the Democratic Headquarters the facts have brought bitterness and a sense of desperation. The result is to be the foulest campaign in Ohio's history. It is to be a campaign of underhand tactics, detestable propaganda and malicious lies. Paid emissaries are now employed to go from house to house spreading vile slander relative to the Republican candidates. From vest pockets are drawn statements which dare not be printed in the open. That they have not the slightest foundation of fact makes no difference to the Democratic management.

And this is only the beginning.

This statement is made in order that the citizens of Ohio may be fully aware of the tactics that are to be employed in a desperate endeavor in the closing days of the campaign to swing the tide which has already set in with overwhelming momentum for the Republican candidate.

Intelligent men and women voters, we are sure, will not be influenced by charges to which those responsible for the Democratic campaign will not attach their names and accept full liability.

The Republican Party does not appeal to race nor religious nor gross prejudice. It does not ask for the support by gutter tactics. It does appeal to the stalwart Americanism of every citizen, man and woman. It believes that an aroused citizenship will rebuke on November 2 the slanderous campaign into which we are now plunged by the Democratic State Committee.

BOYS ARE HELD.
Three juveniles arrested by police Saturday night and Sunday were released to Juvenile Officer Julius Callahan. They are registered at the police station as follows: John Verlight, 17, boilermaker, 414 W. Elm-st., charged with drunkenness; Justin Schroeder, 16, 419 1-2 S. Main-st., charged with burglary at the Santa Candy factory; Cecil Little, 16, 732 E. Center-st., tool maker, charged with stealing bicycles.

RAIN IS BIG BENEFIT TO FARMERS OF COUNTY
"It's an ill wind that blows nobody good."
The cold, misting rain is such a blessing to the farmers of this county. It has been so long since it has rained that the farmers are getting out in corn. The wheat too needed the little shower which so inconvenienced you Monday. It put the tang of autumn in the air and the weather men says chilly weather will follow.

WHISTLE SOUNDED

Safety Campaign on B. & O. Is on in Lima

To remind all employees of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad that their Safety First campaign is on, whistles at the local shops blew for several minutes at nine o'clock Monday morning.

The drive started Oct. 18 and will last until Nov. 17, when the winning division with the fewest number of accidents reported, will be awarded the pennant and employees of the winning division will be entertained at a dinner by the company at a division point.

Last year the Toledo division consisting of the Lima route, won the pennant. Employees will banquet at Dayton soon afterward.

An accident constitutes an injury to an employee which causes him to lose three days' work. No accidents were reported from Lima last week. T. C. O'Brien, general foreman, is conducting the campaign in local shops while C. W. Havens has charge in the yards.

JUST A GIRL

BY J. L. PHELPS

The next day Miss Wilcox came into the office where I was transcribing my letters, dictated to Mr. Claxton, and remarked:

"Want me to put you wise?"

"Wise to what? I don't quite understand." I didn't understand at all; but remembering the day before, I tried to be tactful.

"Wise to the place and—the boss! If he likes you it is an easy place enough. The hours are short. But don't let Betty get down on you. He's the one man in the place who hires and discharges all of us, and he does it for nothing sometimes. So watch out. You never can tell when he is going to turn you off for some other girl—usually a good-looking one. She spoke rather bitterly."

"You have nothing to fear on that score," I returned. "She was a remarkably pretty girl, altho overdressed. She had a good education also, yet at times was far more ungrammatical and slangy than Mary was now."

"I'd been gone long ago if I hadn't been good-looking," she confided. Then, "Why don't you wave your hair and comb it down over your ears more? It's awfully old-fashioned the way you wear it."

"I have always worn it this way. My father liked it so," I replied, just as some one called her, so relieving me of her unwelcome confidences, and advice.

What Miss Wilcox had said about Mr. Betty made an impression upon me. I was not working for him, but for Mr. Claxton. Should the manager discharge me, I should demand to know the reason, not meekly walk out to give some better looking girl my place.

When I told Mary, she said: "She's jealous of you! Didn't I tell you she was a cat? Is she good-looking?"

"Very, and would be much more attractive if she wasn't overdressed. She tried to tell me how to comb my hair."

"The dickens she did! The nerve of her! You're too good-looking, too refined, to be much of a pet around any office. You sure are if the girls are setting their caps for the unmarried men around. Are they all married?"

"I haven't the slightest idea. From something she said I have a notion she cares for that Mr. Betty."

"Is the high mucky-muck married? That Mr. Claxton?"

"I'm sure I don't know, nor care. What difference does it make whether he is married or not? I am hired to take his letters, attend to office work, not to keep house for him."

YOUR NAME

By PHILIP FRANCIS NOWLAN
VARIATIONS — Coombs, Coombs, Coombs, Comber, Camber, Coom-ber, Kempster.

RACIAL ORIGIN—English.
SOURCE—A locality, also an occupation.

The derivation of this group of family names is almost the exact parallel of that of the Hill group. It is more puzzling simply because it is the derived meaning of the original word which has been lost in this case instead of the primary meaning. The word, in the only form in which we have it today is "comb."

It will be remembered that the original meaning of the word "hill" was hill, and that there was a derived meaning, root meaning, has disappeared. The original meaning of the word "comb" was a series of ridges and hollows of the upper hill-sides. This meaning has disappeared and in our language today we have only the derived meaning which we apply to various articles of ridge formation, as in "honeycomb."

"cock's comb," or as we more instinctively think of it, the ordinary hair comb.

The names Coombe, Coombs and Combs were originally preceded by "de la" (of the) or "atte" (at the) which note that the person to whom the surname was applied lived in such a place. It was spelled "cumus," "combe," "kembe," or "came," however. "Combers" and "Coombers" were sometimes persons who dwelt in such sections.

But more often they were those who followed the occupation of wool combing, for even in the early middle ages, about the time family names began to form, the derived meaning of the word had already grown up and was in common use, particularly among the wool traders, and the surnames are often found in the form of "de Comber," "de Kembester" and "de Camber."

Disarmament: He shall judge among the nations, and they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning hooks.—Isaiah 2:4.

TAFT, HARDING, WICKERSHAM ON LEAGUE

TAFT

Ex-President William H. Taft has said many interesting things about the League of Nations, including the following:

"What I urge you to do is to purge your minds and souls from unworthy considerations in reference to the issue. Take it upon its merits. If, because you do not like Mr. Wilson, or don't like his administration, or don't like the Democratic party—any more than I do—and think it may rebound to the credit of that party, and so oppose the League, THEN YOU ARE ACTING FROM UNWORTHY MOTIVES. IRRELEVANT AND INCONSIDERATE TO ANY SUCH ISSUE."

HARDING

At Des Moines, Iowa, a few days ago, Senator Harding, Republican candidate for president, said:

"I oppose the proposed League. I do not want to clarify these obligations. I want to turn my back on them. It is not interpretation, but rejection, that I am seeking."

The League to which Harding referred, which he "turns his back on," which he "rejects" is precisely the same League referred to by Taft and Mr. Wickersham.

So far as we have heard, neither Taft nor Wickersham is touring the country making speeches for Senator Harding.

WICKERSHAM

George W. Wickersham, former Republican attorney general of the United States, about a year ago wrote:

"The question before the Republican party today is whether it shall allow a few senators, blinded by passion and resentment at the president and his administration, to commit the party of great national and international ideals to the reversal of its principles, the abandonment of its high mission and a position of opposition to the only practicable attainable plan before the world to avert from posterity the recurrence of the horror, the misery and the tragedy of further wars."

COX MAKES FRIENDS

GOVERNOR COX made thousands of friends in both the Democratic and Republican parties Saturday night when he set forth in specific language the reservation he would accept to Article X of the League of Nations. He clarified the situation, answered his opponents and in reality removed all points for argument on this, the section of the League which has been the storm center since Will Hays told his cohorts months ago that a fight must be started on the League to win the 1920 election.

Thousands of Republicans who have favored a modified League now can conscientiously cast their vote for Governor Cox. They cannot for Senator Harding since he has taken so many positions none can tell where he stands. The Democratic candidate has stood for reservations, but it was not until Saturday night that he set down in plain words exactly what he would accept, if elected.

FOR PROSECUTING ATTORNEY

HARRY O'Connor, Democratic nominee for the responsible position of Prosecuting Attorney of Allen-co, is presented to the voters as one most admirably fitted to discharge the duties of that office. Capable, careful, competent; endowed with an abundance of good judgment, a successful practicing attorney at law, one of the most highly respected and valuable citizen of this city, Mr. O'Connor's name inspires confidence in the hearts of those who know him for his worth.

In presenting Mr. O'Connor as the nominee of the Democratic party, it is with a deep laid feeling the opinion is expressed that the party chose wisely and well. Harry O'Connor stands on his record of performance. As an assistant prosecuting attorney, Mr. O'Connor served faithfully and well in a manner that reflected credit upon him. As the incumbent in the office to which he aspires, it can be said without fear of contradiction that if the past indicates what will transpire in the future, his service will be thoroughly satisfactory in every respect.

KEEPING FAITH WITH SOLDIERS

THE NEWS has said upon more than one occasion that the men who wore the uniform of the country, either on land or sea, and participated in any way in the great war, have a right to expect that America will keep her word. These courageous young men were given to understand that this war would be one designed to put an end to wars.

This is the outstanding matter to be settled in the United States. And neither the "smoke screen" of candidates nor misrepresentation of partisan newspapers can rob the young men who went overseas wearing the colors of their country, or who were in training camps in this country, of the final victory that is needed.

There is much talk of "waste" and extravagance" in the world war. All wars produce waste. All wars are expensive. It is an incontrovertible fact that despite the criticism from those who, for selfish reasons, seek to discredit the nation and its glorious part in the Great War, not a single instance can honestly be cited wherein it is proved that the administration was guilty of a dishonest act.

We must keep faith with the living who came out of the war, with the families of those who lost loved ones, and with those who sleep at this moment beneath the hallowed soil of a foreign land, victors, after all, in a great cause.

ELECTION SERVICE

THE LIMA NEWS on election night will provide citizens of Lima with the best service to be found. Our two press wires will bring the news from every corner of the United States and our local staff will provide county results as soon as they are received by the Board of Elections. This will be a big night and elaborate preparations are being made to give service up to the standard for which this newspaper stands.

MISS LIMA: "If you are patient and wait a sufficient length of time, maybe the cost tag will cut out of your hand."

smile, said: "Rotten concert, eh? And the refreshments might have been better, but then one has to encourage a thing of this sort. It's for a good cause, you know."

The bar association asserts that the period between the election of a president and his inauguration is too long. This can sometimes also be said of the period between the inauguration and the next election.

A man who has got money and nothing else is not so badly off as some people think.

TODAY'S HEALTH HINTS

By William Brady, M. D.

SELF-DISCIPLINE—2

There are two kinds of self-discipline, both good: mental and physical. Maybe there are three kinds, counting moral discipline, but I don't think that covered pretty well by mental and physical self-discipline—could one be mentally and physically well disciplined, self-disciplined, without being morally sound.

Mental self-discipline is inflicted on the youth at school in the form of that most impractical of all branches of science called for algebra. If there is any purpose for algebra save counting, I have never heard of it, altho I made creditable marks in both plain and solid algebra and the gaseous variety, too, if I recollect.

Dime-novelsque reading is all very well as an occasional diversion, but the reader with ambition to improve his mind will not squander much time on the trashy literature published in modern magazines. He will cultivate by exploration a taste for real literature, and once he has acquired such a taste he will find not merely entertainment but also instruction in his reading.

Likewise a taste for olives, oysters, grape fruit, fresh air and physical self-discipline must be developed deliberately. Once you have acquired the cultivated taste for fresh air you simply can't sleep any more with your bedroom window sealed. No more can you have ease of conscience without your daily stipend of physical exercise.

Until you have learned from experience the rejuvenating effect of your regular fifteen-minute dose of exercise, there will be times when you feel tired in body or mind, or sleepy, so unambitious or so mean that you are tempted to skip the medicine. But here is where self-discipline makes for physical well-being. Drive yourself to take your regular exercise, and congratulate yourself afterward.

Self-discipline strengthens character. A man who smokes cannot fail to have greater self-respect and self-confidence if he will decide on one smokeless day each week and have that day smokeless; or if he will reserve his smoking until after dinner in the evening every day; or both. One smokeless day is a great deal more enjoyable than ten. Six or four smoke days a week are more enjoyable than seven. There is huge satisfaction in showing that you are your own master.

In the past there was a tacit acceptance of the "double standard of morals." Today the male is no more justified in "sowing his wild oats" than is the female. Indeed, purity is quite as essential, not only from the moral but also the health point of view, for the man as it is for his daughter, wife or mother. The lack of self-discipline is the only reason in the world why some men have assumed a contrary view.

WHAT the STARS PREDICT TODAY

Unfriendly stars are in the ascendency today.

This is a lucky wedding day, unless the bridegroom is much older than the bride.

Theater, restaurants and hotels have a good augury under this rule.

The winter will be marked by an extraordinary emphasis upon the fine arts—music, painting, and so forth.

Persons whose birthday legends will receive unexpected legacies.

Children born today will have success in love.

Resinol
Gives health to the skin and hair

The soothing, healing properties of Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap enable them to protect the skin and scalp from annoying eruptions—tend to keep the complexion clear, and the hair rich and lustrous. The treatment is easy and economical to use, and is almost sure to produce the desired results.

Ask your druggist for Resinol Soap and Ointment.

"I know, Zena, and you needn't get huffy. But remember, I was a working girl long before you knew anything about it. Most of the time it don't make no difference whether the bosses are married or not. They flirt with a pretty girl just the same. But it makes a lot of difference whether the girl is the right sort or not. I'll bet a nickel's worth of pan-cakes that your Mr. Claxton ain't married, and the Wilcox girl is setting her cap for him.

I laughed merrily. I was happy because I had secured such a nice place, and Mary's peculiar ideas amused me.

"Girls who work are too busy to think of flirting," I told her. "You should have heard me telling Mother that I knew no one but you and Mrs. Fagin. She couldn't understand why I had no young men calling on me, bringing me bouquets and flowers as they used to when I didn't need them."

"Ain't it the truth! When you don't need things you have them. When you do, you don't! It's a case of them that has, gets, and them that ain't got nothing, gets left! But honest, Zena, most working girls look out for the main chance."

"Tell me more about the manager," she asked after a bit.

"Oh, he likes pretty girls in the office. I guess. He can't be blamed for that, can he?"

"I knew there was a worm in that raspberry, a nice bitter one. He'll be making love to you pretty soon, and if you won't stand for it, you're fired. Out you'll go!"

I laughed again at Mary's expressions. I knew that there were fine business men, moral and good, like Dad. I had begun to realize, there were some of the other sort, too, but I thoroughly believe the fine characters predominated.

I hated to think otherwise. Dad had been a business man.

"LANGUID"—THAT'S THE WORD

Not Sick Exactly, Just Seem to Have no Ambition

An Awful Feeling Seldom Necessary

Pepto-Mangan The Red Blood Builder, Does Away With Languor

If you don't feel like doing things, you won't. If you wonder where some people get all their energy, the answer is from good food which in turn makes rich, red blood.

If your food does not give the nourishment and vigor it should, it is most likely that your blood is so weak that it needs a little extra help for a time to build it up to normal strength.

Thousands of men and women have been restored to vigorous health and lasting happiness by Gude's Pepto-Mangan. This beneficial blood tonic contains the very properties so specially needed to improve the blood. Pepto-Mangan, if taken for a few weeks, will enrich the blood and create thousands of the tiny red blood cells that are so necessary to carry nourishment and strength to every part of the body.

Be sure to ask your druggist for "Gude's" when you order Pepto-Mangan. For convenience it is prepared in liquid and tablet form, both possessing exactly the same medicinal properties. "Gude's" is the genuine Pepto-Mangan. Look for the name "Gude's" on the package.—Adv.

Listen, good friends, and you shall hear why some Cigarettes are so all-fired dear

SOME cigarettes are packed in pretty boxes that certainly don't grow on trees. Next, they're dolled up—and flavorings are sure getting expensive. And then, they're priced a bit high so they'll seem "exclusive." But read how Spur Cigarettes offer the highest possible quality at the lowest possible price!

If there are any finer tobaccos from the Orient and the good old U. S. A. than those selected for Spurs, they must be a secret that the world has never heard. And when we got these combined in Spur Cigarettes, what do you suppose was the result? Just the best taste and aroma that any cigarette could give, and Willie Doll-up or Freddie Flavoring hadn't a thing to do with it!

Spur is "class" all through—even to the smart "brown-and-silver" package, triple-wrapped, that keeps Spurs fresh and fragrant. Try out a package of Spurs. You'll say "made and priced for popularity."

URGE VOTERS TO POLLS EARLY

Warning Given That Delay May Result in Losing Vote

The fact that it required 21 minutes for a woman to mark her "absent voter" ballot, a warning has been issued by officials of the Board of Deputy State Supervisors of Elections that everyone, men and women, vote as early as possible in the day on Tuesday, November 2. Other wise, it is warned, there may be many who will be unable to get into the booths at all.

Registration disclosed the fact, too, that in many of the precincts the election officials will have all day, even the voters present themselves in such numbers as to keep them busy continuously.

Five minutes is the legal period allotted for each voter. This fact, coupled with the unusually heavy registration and with many precincts having upwards of 500 voters, an average of more than 40 votes an hour must be maintained during the 12 hours in which the polls will be open on November 2.

To accomplish this there must be a steady stream of voters to the polls all day. The board makes a special request that every woman who is not employed and those who can get away from their employment, vote before 2 p. m.

The Latest Parisian Mode PRESENTED IN EIGHT

DRESS CREATIONS

$35.00 to $75.00

Moderate prices unheard of before for authentic Parisian modes

JUST ARRIVED—eight new dress creations with the latest fashion-features from Paris! To say that these Parisian-inspired and Paris-created dresses are notably, unmistakably CROWN creations needs no further style-comment on their French authenticity—or charm.

And these eight models, with all their inimitable French chic, originality, exclusiveness, yet have a striking new price moderation that makes it possible for American women to have several dresses of actual Parisian creation—for practically the price that one Paris-created gown commanded heretofore! And each one of them, regardless of the price, has the same inimitable smartness of French origination that distinguishes the entire array... The Parisian dress adaptations pictured here are suited for street, afternoon or restaurant wear, appropriate for both town and country.

To see these eight models is to gain a true appreciation of the newest features of the Parisian dress mode. This is your invitation to view, at their first appearance tomorrow, the colorful ornamentation, the varied materials, the charm of line in these Crown models which can hardly be pictured here—and to receive the latest authentic information of what is actually worn NOW in Paris!

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and A FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labelling them, "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children unless you or your physician know of what it is composed. CASTORIA DOES NOT CONTAIN NARCOTICS, if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Children Cry For

Fletcher's CASTORIA

Of Course You Love Your Baby.

You love it because of its very helplessness, because it can't tell you what is the matter when it feels bad. It can only cry and look to you for help. But the more you love baby, the more you want to help baby, the more you ought to realize what a wonderful remedy Fletcher's Castoria is. It has been used for babies' ailments for over thirty years.

An experienced doctor discovered Fletcher's Castoria especially for babies' use. It is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. Doctors who know what is safe and best for babies have only good to say of it.

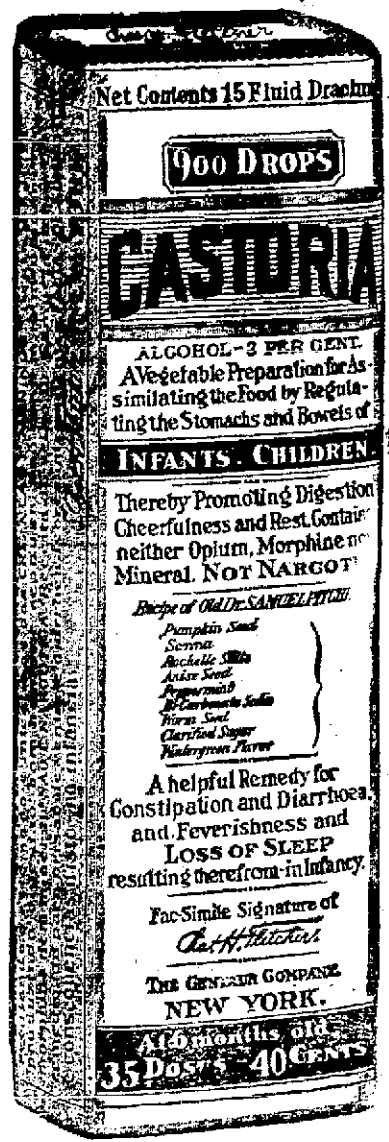

Don't neglect your baby. Get a bottle of Fletcher's Castoria and give baby a few doses of it. See how the little one smiles at you as if trying to thank you for helping it. Soon you will learn to depend on Fletcher's Castoria, made just for Infants and Children, and of course you would not think of using anything for them that was not prepared especially for Infants and Children. So keep it in the house.

Unloading Our Big Stock of New Fall SUITS

At A Discount of 15%

On account of the extremely warm weather, we have had thus far this season, to be honest, we haven't sold as many Fall Suits as we had anticipated. In addition to this, there has been a sharp decline in the material market and we have purchased large quantities of Suits at these new prices and have re-marked our former Suits accordingly. However we now find ourselves overstocked at this time and have, therefore, decided to unload.

Beginning Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock and lasting through Saturday, Oct. 30th, we offer our entire stock of New Fall Suits, which is already marked unusually low at a Discount of 15%.

In addition to this we will include our entire stock of ladies' ready-to-wear and millinery, making it unanimously a 15% Discount Sale.

Now is your opportunity to save—and save big money on your new Fall outfit.

All sales final—no exchanges or refunds.

WHERE SHOPPING IS A PLEASURE

THE PALACE OF DARKENED WINDOWS

BY MARY HASTINGS BRADLEY

And Arlee thought of the jewels and the silks . . . and the long, long, silent hours . . . Slowly she put out her hand and snuffed out the smoking wick, then raised her eyes to where the painted bars stretched black across the starry square of sky. "Won't she help?" she asked.

"Not she! Hamdi would find her out. Not thru her can you get word to your friends. For you have friends here? And they will help you? And then you will help me?" "Oh, yes, if I can get help," promised Arlee. "But I am afraid my friends have gone up the Nile—and there are just—just one or two left in Cairo that would help. And I must get word to them at once. What is the best way? Couldn't I push a note thru the windows on the street? Someone might see that!"

"Yes, the doorkeeper. No, that is not safe. . . . If only that girl were sure!" "Mariyah!" cried Arlee. "No, the other—the little one with the wart over her eye. Have you seen her? Well, watch for her. Then she has an itching palm—she may help. But only in little things, of course, for she is afraid. And I have no money left and she is afraid to take a jewel."

"I have almost no money," said Arlee blankly. "Only a letter of credit."

"A letter of nothing here! But promise her your friends will give much."

"Would she mail a letter?" "Have you stamps? No? She is so ignorant that is an obstacle. And the post is distant and she dare not go far. But sometimes the baker sends a little boy, and if you had money to give she might get a note to him to carry—no, maybe, she burns the note and keeps the money." The Viennese ended pessimistically.

"But I must get help at once," Arlee iterated passionately. Before—

"Before?" the other repeated curiously. "He makes love to you—him?"

"He—is beginning."

"Only beginning?"

"Only—beginning." Arlee felt the girl's strange, hard scrutiny thru the dark. Then she heard her draw a quick breath as if her eyes on Arlee's flower-like face had convinced her of something against all her sorry little reason.

"Well, that is good then," she said. "Try to keep him off. What does he promise you?"

"Promise me? He does not promise anything."

"But he must say something—what is between you—what? demanded the other impatiently.

Briefly, her shamed cheeks grateful for the shadows, Arlee told of that walk in the garden, of the flowers and the letter, the scene after dinner. And the other girl's eyes grew wider and wider, and then finally she burst into a smothered little laugh.

"Oh, he is mad, that Hamdi!"

"Whispered. 'He is a monster of vanity—conquest of the spirit—him. I comprehend. That young man has a pride beyond all sense. You dandle him—he is in love again like a boy. And he must dandle you. His pride demands a victory out of force alone. . . . Some men are like that. . . . Well, that is your chance! . . ."

"My chance?"

"Play with his vanity—fight, his force with that!" said this strange initiator into terrible secrets. "He will believe anything of his fascinations—I know him! And if he is so mad for you that he dares all this trouble to have you here, then he is so mad that you can fool him and make him hold back in hopes to gain more from you. Make him think you are coming, as he wishes, beat and body, but still you would wait a little. So you gain time. . . . Oh, you must be careful! If he loses hope, if you anger him, why the game is over. But if you are careful you can gain a few days—"

"A few days?" said Arlee in a tense little voice.

"Well, that is something—since you hate him so!"

"Yes, that is something," Arlee drew a shivering breath, her head drooping, her lashes on her cheeks. Then suddenly, amazingly, her chin came pluckily up, her soft lips set with desperate decision, her eyes turned on her counselor a look of flashing spirit. She was like some young wild thing at bay, harried, defiant, tensely defensive. Something of the pathos of her innocent preference there, in that evil palace, uttered alone, hopelessly defiant, penetrated for an instant the callous acceptance of the little dancer and her eyes softened with facile sympathy, but the impression dulled and she only nodded her head encouragingly.

"Good! That is the way! Women can always act!" she murmured slipping off the divan and drawing her fluttering robes about her. "But it is very late and I must go—it is not safe to stay so."

"Where is your room? Could I get to you?"

"No—for you cannot open that panel on the inside—unless you can steal the key from him as I could not! My room—for this present little one, and her eyes laughed suddenly in challenge. "Is up on the top—a little old room all alone. My doors are locked, but there is a panel in my room, too, a panel at the top of my stairs, and the lock on that panel is so old and rusty that a knife make it open. So I pushed it open and came down the tiny stairs that end out there in the passage way, and I opened your panel. Now I must steal back, but I shall come again, and we must plan."

"But where does this secret passage go?" Arlee had followed over the bed, and held aside the heavy draperies while the little Baroff was pushing the panel softly and carefully open. Eagerly Arlee peered out into the darkness beyond. "Where does it go?" she repeated. "It runs above the hall of banquets and into the selamluk," whispered the Viennese. "It opens into Hamdi's room, he says, and I know that a servant sleeps always at his foot and another is at the foot of the stairs. So it would be madness to try that way."

But Arlee stared thoughtfully into the secret place. "I am glad I know," she said.

"Well, good-by, little one." The Viennese was standing outside now, softly closing the door. For a moment her face, remained in the opening. "You will not tell Hamdi that I came—no?" she demanded sharply, and then on Arlee's quick reassurance she nodded, whispered good-by again, and drew back her little face.

The wall rolled into place and a gentle click told of the caught lock. The curtains fell back over the wall and Arlee was left huddling there alone, feeling that it had all been a dream, but for the heavy scent that lingered in the air and the wild fear beating in her heart.

DIARY OF AN ENGAGED GIRL

BY PHYLIS PHILLIPS

THE MEETING

That man—that moon! Of course we met; we were fated to. A bad tunnel came along, and of course he came to my side to put up the window for me—all so slow, you know. Again his hand touched mine, and then he spoke. I smiled and thanked him, but shook my head at his language.

Thank goodness we both understood French, for five minutes afterwards we were standing, connected at the same window, talking to each other about the wonders of the night—and smiling into each other's eyes as the we had known each other for centuries.

His name is Etienne—Etienne Impetria—and I am head over heels in love—no, surely that can't be, for I am an engaged girl, but, oh, how I shudder at the thought of him. And stranger of all is that I don't love my far away Jack any the less—may—every bit as much, and in the same way as before. But it seems to be an entirely different sort of thing to this emotion of mine for Etienne. I wish I could explain it to myself. At this moment his note is in my hands—his voice in my ears—and his presence in my ears—and his presence in my heart!

How long we would have stayed at that window heaven only knows, but as we were whispering to each other the train gave an awful lurch, throwing me right into Etienne's arms. The jar of the train completely aroused mother.

I think Etienne deliberately pressed me to him. I struggled free and pointed into the compartment where mother was rubbing the sleep and shock from her eyes, placed my finger on my lips, to entreat his silence, then walked back to my place just as glibly as if I had stepped out for an instant to see what had happened to the train. I explained that everything was all right, and before long mother was dozing off again. Some one in the compartment switched the shade over the electric light above our heads and the place was in darkness.

I sat quietly, revelling in the vibrations that were coming to me from the darkened passage just outside, until I couldn't stand it any longer—and then I, too, stole out. Etienne was waiting for me and begged me to come down to his compartment, where his friends were, and altho I felt like a criminal, I followed him.

His friends turned out to be three hilarious young students, dark-eyed as he, and in maddest mood. They all had bottles of champagne and offered me sips from them in turn. I did have the most glorious time—and they wooed me with their eyes every bit as much as Etienne did.

Elderly People Need This In Medicine Chest

To relieve chronic constipation, always keep a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin handy.

NEARLY all people as they advance in age suffer from chronic constipation. Many, however, are indifferent to the laxative they use, on the theory that "they are all alike." That is a great mistake.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, for example, is a mild, gentle liquid laxative, and it does not lose its effect with repeated use. It so trains the bowel muscles that in time medicines of all kinds can be dispensed with.

A sixty-cent bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will last many months. The prescription was written thirty years ago by Dr. W. E. Caldwell, a well-known family doctor, who is himself now in his 82nd year and can attest to the fact that chronic constipation must mean to elderly people; how it brings on headaches, colds, loss of appetite and sleep, heaviness and a general dull feeling.

Every home that has an elderly man or woman should be provided with a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Eight million bottles were bought at drug stores last year. It is a truly wonderful constipation remedy.

A Bad Cough
PISO'S
STUMBLED ABOUT LIKE DRUNK MAN

Machinist says his liver was sluggish, bowels constipated, gas bloated his stomach. Two bottles of Dr. Doan's Kidney Pills have relieved him entirely, he declares.

"I used to have difficulty in keeping on the sidewalk because I'd get so dizzy I'd stumble along like I was drunk," said Mr. William Allwine, the well known machinist residing at 142 East Railroad-st., Tiffin, Ohio.

"After each meal my stomach would fill up with gas, making me very uncomfortable. I couldn't enjoy sitting around home at night on account of the gas. My stomach burned like it had a fire in it. My bowels were bound up; liver was very sluggish; my tongue had a thick coat on it all the time and my breath was bad. I got nervous so that my sleep was broken and my appetite was very poor."

"The I had taken much medicine, none seemed to reach my troubles, but two bottles of Dr. Doan's Kidney Pills and I feel better than I have in years. My liver is active, bowels more regular; no more gas troubles me; I have a good appetite and sleep fine. Dr. Doan's Kidney Pills cured me."

Dr. Doan's is made from the juices of 12 different herbs, roots, barks and leaves, which act on the stomach, liver, kidneys, bladder and the blood, and tends to relieve constipation, headaches, rheumatism, catarrh, biliousness, dizziness, heart fluttering, gas on the stomach and other troubles.

All druggists now sell Dr. Doan's and it is being especially introduced in Lima by Baldwin's Central Drug Store, corner Main and High-sts.—Adv.

The Bill Is Never Long Over Due

We all need recreation, but often we pay too dearly for it. Continued overeating, late hours and irregular habits are apt to bring their price in kidney troubles. Daily backache, dizzy spells, headaches, rheumatic pains and urinary irregularities are warnings of kidney weakness. Neglect may lead to gravel, dropsy or Bright's disease. For quick relief, moderate your habits and use Doan's Kidney Pills. They are praised the world over. Ask your neighbor.

HERE IS A LIMA CASE
A. J. Roth, machinist, 694 S. Union-st., says: "My kidneys were out of order and my back ached like toothache. I couldn't lift much of anything because when I did, I got a stitch in my back and sometimes had to lay off work for three or four days. My kidneys acted too often and the secretions were burning and scanty. I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills and after I had taken three boxes of Doan's my kidneys acted naturally and my back was strong."

Do you buy special butter? for your guests?

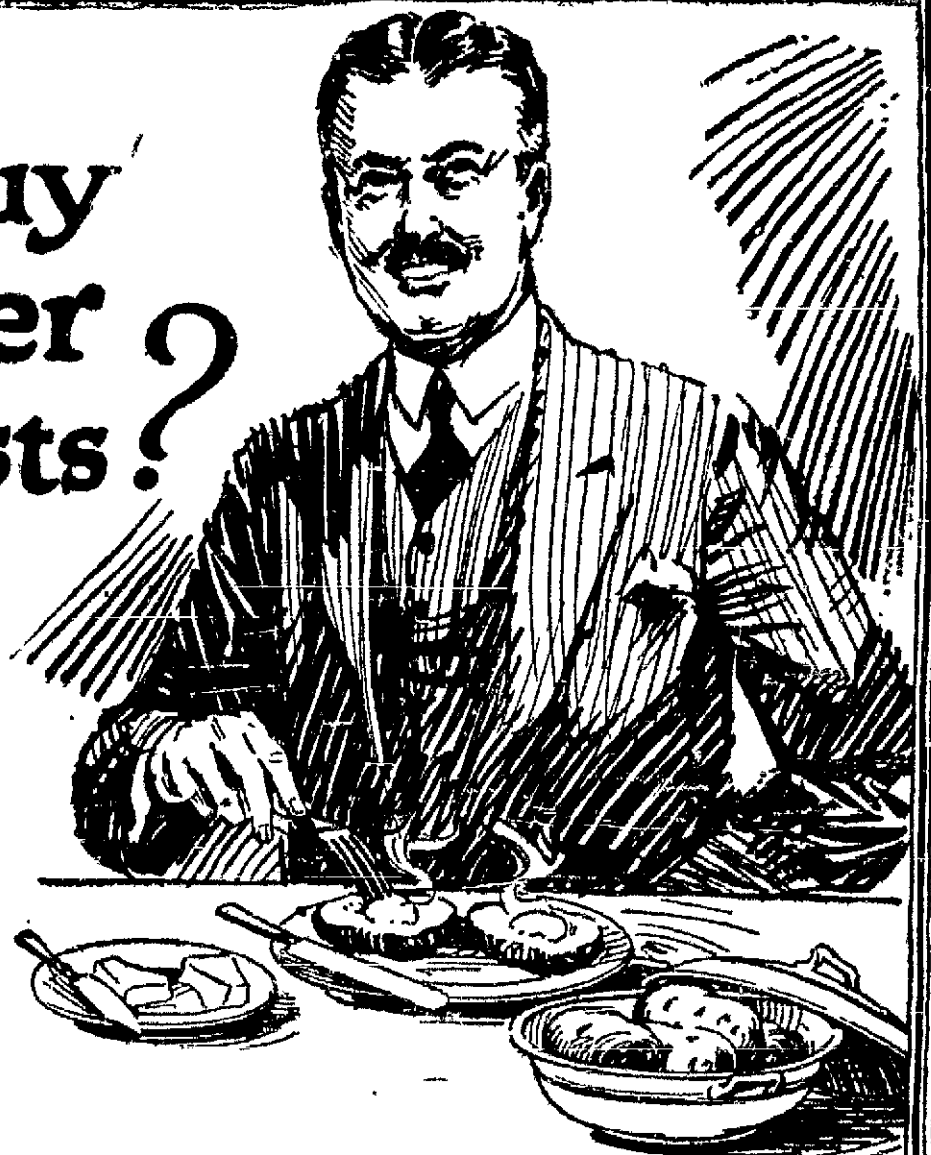

ARE you ashamed to serve your guests the butter-spread you use for family meals?

Then you should use Golmar—which will save you as much money as the product you are using—yet give you every advantage of the very best creamery butter. In fact, you simply cannot tell any difference between Golmar and the choicest creamery butter. The taste is the same—not just about the same—but exactly the same. Your husband—your family—your guests simply cannot tell any difference.

And in cooking, too, you have every advantage of fresh creamery butter. Golmar is not a substitute for creamery butter—it's the same thing, in taste, in body-building elements, in wholesomeness, in digestibility! It costs less simply because it is cheaper to grow coconuts than to feed cows.

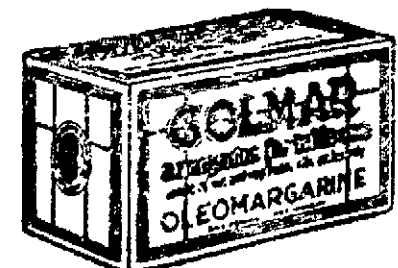

Golmar is churned fresh daily from choice coconut oils and pasteurized milk—every package comes to you in perfect condition—and it stays fresh as long as you need it for a small family to use a pound.

Get a package from your dealer today—use it as you now are using creamery butter—and prove to yourself that it will replace creamery butter in every way. If you are not satisfied your money will be cheerfully refunded.

The Famous Golmar Test
Example No. 14
Golmar on Baked Potatoes

PLACE a pat of Golmar and one of fresh creamery butter side by side. Then put a bit of Golmar on one baked potato, and some creamery butter on another. Take a bite of one and then of the other, and we challenge you to tell which is Golmar. Golmar is the equal of and is equalled only by fresh creamery butter.

The same coloring matter used in creamery butter is supplied with Golmar so you can color it at home and save the tax of 10 cents per pound which the Government would collect if Golmar were colored by the makers.

PAINS NEARLY DOUBLED ME UP

Nothing Helped Me Until I Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Wyandotte, Mich.—"For the last four years I have doctored off and on with out help. I have had pains every month so bad that I would nearly double up. Sometimes I could not sleep a room without stopping to rest, and everything I ate upset my stomach. Three years ago I lost a child and a suffered so badly that I was out of my head at times. My bowels did not move for days and I could not eat without suffering. The doctor could not help me and one day I told my husband that I could not stand the pain any longer and sent him to the drugstore to get me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and threw the doctor's medicine away. After taking three bottles of Vegetable Compound and using two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Sensitive Wash I could do my own housework. If it had not been for your medicine I don't know where I would be today and I am never without a bottle of it at home. You may publish this if you like that it may help some other woman."—Mrs. M. A. Y. Stevens, 120 Orange St., Wyandotte, Mich.

GETS HUBBY THO SHE'S SLIM

Picturization of George Ade Story
Declared Good

"THE HEART OF A CHILD"

At the Sigma—Crystal Gazer at
The Orpheum

(BY ELSIE WAGNER)
If you have ever liked Mabel Normand at all, you'll be sure to enjoy her latest picture "The Slim Princess" from the pen of George Ade. It's strikingly original, gives Miss Normand a splendid role and, with the exception of the leading man, whose name I don't know, the cast is a fine one.

The story is laid in the little kingdom of Morovena, wherever that is, where it had always been the custom for the ladies to eat and grow fat. The thin ones never had a chance at anything. In the house of Governor General, there is one great sorrow, the fact that the older daughter is horribly thin, while the other one is beautifully proportioned, weighing about three hundred or thereabouts. The idea is to get the thin daughter fattened up, for the other one cannot take unto herself a husband until this is accomplished.

One day an American traveler chanced upon the Slim Princess and fell madly in love with her. The guards, however, don't permit much courting, and the American leaves for home without a chance to declare himself. It comes about, however, that she gets a husband even though she is not overweight.

There's a lot of good comedy and beautiful Turkish scenes throughout the picture and Mabel is as funny as ever.

The picture is well photographed and should please you mightily. It is at the Regent.

THE HEART OF A CHILD

If you want romance and complexity, (and there is a naughty villain in the play who wears petticoats and boasts a title), pathos and comedy, high lights and soft shadows, and by no means least of all, the improbable made to seem real, you'll find it all in "The Heart of a Child" appearing at the Sigma.

There are real lords and ladies, besides every day people. The whole story, which is a sort of fairy tale, centers around an adorable little waif, who whisks her way into your heart with her elfin smile and lutesome little person.

Nazimova is the winning pug-nacious Sally Snape who dances in her rags and tatters in an honest-to-goodness gutter. And she is equally bewitching when she later dons pretend rags (all made of chiffon or something) to play the gutter-snipe on a real stage.

Without Nazimova, it seems to me that the picture would be decidedly my share, except for a murder and an automobile wreck that takes your breath for a moment. Charles Bryant, her husband, does splendid work all thru the picture.

"The Heart of a Child" is, as a consequence, a fine program picture and should please the majority.

THE program at the Orpheum contains several good things, foremost among which, of course, is Alla Axiom, psychic and crystal-gazer. At the first performance on Sunday, the audience was a little leary about asking him questions, but they finally thawed out and many little envelopes were filled in and returned to the stage. Alla tells you things, in fact, he answers my own question quite satisfactorily. Anything you want to know about your husband or sweetheart? Ask Alla; he knows.

Rappi, billed as the wandering violinist, is a beautiful specimen of why girls leave home, and can play the violin marvelously. Next to the man of mystery, I think his act is the best thing on the entire program.

Monroe Bros. do a bouncing act, but their performance is extra good and displays some talent. Another good offering is given by a young lady in a rose basket who swings out over the audience during the course of her song. Many beautiful electrical effects are noticeable.

The remaining three acts are good entertainment. In fact, it's one of the most complete bills seen here for several weeks.

Neglect Keeps

Doctors Busy

An eminent physician once said:
"When it is not for people who neglect the early symptoms of disease, many doctors would have to find a new way to make a living."

Every winter doctors are busy cutting on gripes and pneumonia patients because the first symptoms of colds were neglected.

Watch out for a cold this year. At the first sneeze and sniffle take Lightning Laxative Quinine Tablets. You'll stop the cold and feel like a new person in 24 hours. Never gripe or sicken. Druggists guarantee them. —E.C. B.

Soft Coal ECONOMY With Hard Coal COMFORT

THE ONLY SMOKELESS HOT BLAST HEATER MADE

It is a mistake to believe that the burning of soft coal is always attended by smoke and soot. To be sure this is true with the ordinary type of stove, but the successful burning of bituminous coal is merely a matter of correctly understanding the principles of combustion and properly applying them. Air must be supplied to the coal in sufficient quantity, in the right place and PRE-HEATED. In this way the extracts every available heat unit from the fuel even to actually consuming the smoke and soot, which with the ordinary soft coal heater escapes into the room or up the flue.

20th Century Laurel Heater

Not only is soft coal burned with hard coal cleanliness, but the special door construction makes it possible to burn large chunks of wood without re-splitting.

With the scarcity and high cost of hard coal you will find the use of the 20th Century Laurel Heater both safe and economical.

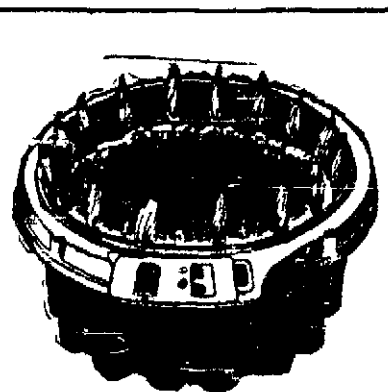

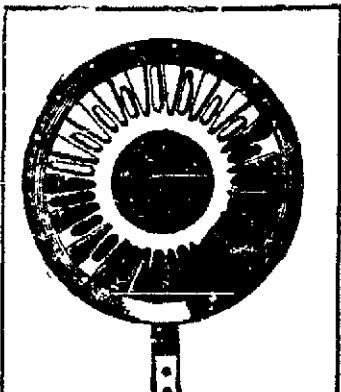

Illustration No. 1 is of the Fire Pot used in all sizes of the 20th Century LAUREL Heater, as well as hot blast ring at the top of the fire pot, which is almost indestructible on account of being under constant ventilation. Some heaters have a hot blast ring on the interior of the fire pot, subject to the combustion, which is very short lived.

Cut No. 2 shows the LAUREL register grate used in connection with the slotted fire pot. No other stoves have this combination fire pot and register grate, which permits the coal to burn from the outside toward the center free from dirt, clinkers and smoke.

This grate is one of the big features found in Laurel Heaters.

Come in and allow our courteous and painstaking salesmen the privilege of demonstrating this wonderful heater for you. Also our large line of Garland Combination Range and Oil Cook Stoves.

NEW YORK.—A firm to strong tone attended the resumption of trading on the stock exchange Monday. Last week's final rate of 1 1/2 per cent for call loans and the large deficit in actual reserves reported by clearing house banks were offset by favorable advices from London regarding British labor conditions and a sharp rise in sterling exchange. Oils, rails and utilities were the stronger issues, Mexican Petroleum, Houston Oil, Reading, Texas and Pacific and Laclede Gas gaining 1 to 2 points within the first half hour. Additions to early gains were made in the first hour by oils, especially Mexican Petroleum, Pan-American Petroleum, Shell Trading, California Petroleum and Houston Oil. These issues gained 2 to almost 5 points over last week's final prices. Rails were dull but utilities and tobacco strengthened with some of the minor specialties. The market reacted in the second hour when United Fruit fell 5 points and Coca Cola 3 1/2, the latter losing ground on adverse dividend rumors. Irregular recoveries set in before noon, when steels developed activity, especially heavy buying being noted in United States Steel and Bethlehem. An opening rate of 8 per cent for call money indicated a possible recurrence of last Friday's flurry.

A Beautiful, Long-lived Roof— Certain-teed Shingles

Certain-teed Asphalt Shingles, in subdued reds or greens, add an attractive touch to the appearance of any home. Their surface does not wear off, wash off or change color and they do not crack or break. In addition to their beauty, they provide weather protection and are, at the same time, fire-retarding and spark-proof. Their cost is low compared with other equally high grade types of roofing and they are guaranteed for ten years. In addition to shingles, Certain-teed Roofing comes in rolls, mineral-surfaced red or even—much like the shingles in appearance—and also in the smooth surface staple gray kind. Like all products bearing the Certain-teed label, Certain-teed Roofings are the highest quality. See a Certain-teed dealer the next time you need roofing. He can help you select the best kind of roofing for your purposes and sell you what you need at a real saving in cost.

CHICAGO—indications of probable quick settlement of the British coal strike tended Monday to strengthen the wheat market. Opening prices which varied from 3-8 off to 1c advance, with December 3 to 2.01 and March 1.93 to .94, were followed by moderate gains all around and then something of a reaction. Corn was firmer with wheat. After opening unchanged to 5-8c higher including December at 80 1-2 to 80 5-8, the market scored an additional upturn and later underwent a sag. Oats reflected the strength of other grain, starting unchanged to 3-8 higher, with December 53 5-8 to 53 3-4 and keeping close to initial figures. Weakness in the hog market had a depressing effect on provisions.

The Pioneer Spirit
RAILROADS are like pioneers. When they enter a territory, civilization and prosperity invariably follow closely. American railroads have been not only forerunners of progress but leaders in the growth and development of localities whose transportation needs were served.
The New York Central Lines strive always to maintain this tradition of service to individual communities as well as to the nation as a whole. It was for the greater convenience of the public generally that the Grand Central Terminal, where an average of 115,372 passengers are served each day, was planned and built; yet the Engineering News-Record, in an editorial on September 9th, generously gave the development larger significance:

"The term 'Grand Central' no longer designates a mere railroad station, but a large and impressive civic center. The story of its development in the last twenty years is a romance. Where there were formerly smoking stacks and four-story buildings, there are now handsome structures—office buildings, stores, hotels, apartments and clubs. The terminal area itself, because of its attractiveness, has become the heart of a still greater development, radiating from it in every direction. In fact the whole surrounding neighborhood now goes by the name of Grand Central District, and is one of the chief business centers of the metropolis. As a civic as well as a railroad development, it is unique and stands as a monument to the foresight of the New York Central Railroad."

In every locality served, the New York Central Lines necessarily must aid civic growth, not merely as an employer of labor, a carrier of commerce and an artery of trade, but by linking the surrounding farm areas to profitable markets.

Those who have invested their savings in railroad securities have the satisfaction of knowing that they have not merely aided in railroad development, but have helped, and are helping, to open the gates of national prosperity and progress.

SHORT SHAVINGS

Benny Moore, negro boxer, the other night in Oakland, Cal., stopped an avalanche of gloves before a wicked blow flattened him.

"Get up, or no money," warned the referee.

"Don't need the money that bad," returned Benny from the mat.

The Mason and Dixie cheerleaders were doing a rushing business in the game around the shell hole during a lull in the fight. Most of the remains of the company pay was gathered in the steel situation, which was doing duty as the First National bank, and the big boy from New Orleans who held the bones was conscripting all the oratory in his vocabulary for the occasion.

"Come, sehen, come sehen," he chortled. "I want action. Action's what we want—"

Then a belated 77 exploded nearby, cutting off his flow of speech just as the shells left his hand. For a moment after the echoes died away there was a dead silence, then an agitated voice arose.

"Man, oh, man, be careful how you assemble 307 numpahs, or disaster game an' wine to be broke up."

Aunt Elvira rushed into the house, hysterical.

"I've lost my hearing," she shouted. "You have," her frightened sister shouted back. "How do you know?"

"See that man out there playing that hand-organ? Well I can't hear a single note," and Aunt Elvira went afresh.

"That's a moving picture photographer at work," snapped her sister.

ST. MARYS.—Hon. and Mrs. Daniel F. Mooney left Monday, expecting to sail, October 30, on the ship "Vauban," for his ministerial post of duty at Asuncion, Paraguay. In behalf of international welfare which Mr. Mooney is declared to have promised, he was asked by State Secretary Bainbridge Colby to return to Asuncion, in response to Mr. Mooney's request for a post nearer home.

BARKS LIKE DOG WHEN HE COUGHS

NEW YORK—Charged with disorderly conduct because his coughing sounded like "the barking of a dog" and annoyed pedestrians, Harry L. Coombs, forty-five years old, who said he was a watchman at the National City Bank, No. 514 Fifth-ave was discharged by Magistrate Simpson in the Night Court.

According to Patrolman Tracy, of the West 141st-st station, a number of pedestrians at Times Square complained of being annoyed by Coombs "barking" at them. The prisoner explained to the Magistrate that he was not barking but coughing, and said his cough was peculiar because he suffered from an unusual affection of the lungs which he refused to have treated. He said that he obtained relief only by coughing in the manner which the pedestrian resented. Coombs gave an exhibition of the peculiar cough at the request of Magistrate Simpson, who laughed heartily and advised him to have the ailment treated before it again brought him into trouble.

THE CRABBE ACT

(On Ballot as House Bill No. 620)

The rejection of this Crabbe Act is part of the people's fight for a reasonable measure of self-government and freedom from autocratic laws.

The Crabbe Act pretends to be enforcement of constitutional prohibition.

Constitutional Prohibition reads:

"The sale and manufacture for sale of intoxicating liquors are prohibited."

The Crabbe Act (Sec. 3) reads:

"No person shall, after the passage of this act, MANUFACTURE, SELL, BARTER, TRANSPORT, IMPORT, EXPORT, DELIVER, FURNISH, RECEIVE, GIVE AWAY, PRESCRIBE, POSSESS, SOLICIT or ADVERTISE any intoxicating liquors, except as authorized in this act."

Had these provisions of the Crabbe Act been included in the constitutional prohibition, does anyone believe Constitutional Prohibition would have carried in Ohio?

LET ANY "DRY" ANSWER THE QUESTION.

Constitutional Prohibition is directed against "intoxicating" liquors.

The Crabbe Act (Sec. 4) defines intoxicating liquor to include "any liquid" containing one-half of one per cent or more of alcohol by volume which is fit for use for beverage purposes."

Everyone knows one-half of one percent to be non-intoxicating. The Act itself recognizes forty-nine hundredths per cent as non-intoxicating.

Had the constitutional prohibition included the Crabbe definition, does anyone believe Constitutional Prohibition would have carried in Ohio?

LET ANY "DRY" ANSWER THE QUESTION.

Then, why should the Crabbe Act be approved?

Laws should represent the people's will. The Crabbe Act does not.

Election Tuesday, November 2nd, 1920.

House Bill No. 620, Passed by the General Assembly of Ohio and Ordered Referred to the Electors of the State.

Yes	SHALL HOUSE BILL NO. 620 BE APPROVED AS PASSED BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY JANUARY 27, 1920, APPROVED BY THE GOVERNOR, FEBRUARY 16, 1920, AND FILED WITH THE SECRETARY OF STATE, FEBRUARY 17, 1920.
X No	To prohibit the liquor traffic and to provide for the administration and enforcement of such prohibition and repeal certain sections of the General Code.

Of all the states in the Union, Ohio is the first where the people may declare by direct vote whether Prohibition shall go beyond Sale of Intoxicants, and also whether it shall apply to Non-Intoxicants.

Beautifying with soap and water

HERE is a way to make washing your face an actual beauty treatment. It will keep your complexion smooth and soft.

You must use Palmolive soap, because of its soothing mildness. You must massage the creamy Palmolive lather gently but thoroughly into your skin, so that it penetrates every tiny pore.

Then, when you rinse this lather off, all clogged up dirt, oil secretions and dried perspiration come with it.

Your skin will be clean—thoroughly, healthfully clean, with no poisonous accumulations left to cause ugly blackheads and disfiguring pimples. Dry skins also need Palmolive Cold Cream, often before as well as after washing. This supplements the lack of natural oil and keeps the texture satin smooth.

You couldn't risk such thorough cleansing with ordinary soap. There would be danger of irritation. But the bland creamy lather of Palmolive doesn't roughen even the most sensitive skin.

Made from the mildest ingredients

Palmolive couldn't be anything but mild. It contains no ingredients that could make it harsh.

It is the modern combination of the Palm and Olive oils Cleopatra used both as cosmetic and cleanser.

Why Palmolive is popular priced

Simply because public demand is so enormous that it reduces manufacturing cost.

The Palmolive factories are never idle, night or day. All ingredients are bought in vast quantities.

Thus you need pay no premium for Palmolive quality. It is America's favorite toilet luxury, sold at a popular price.
